GAVIN & HORD'S REVISION.

The second volume of Messrs. Gavin & Hord's compilation of Indiana Statutes has just appeared. This volume completes their work. Its mechanical execution is ver creditable; and the skill, learning, and labor which the permanently to that position. editors have bestowed on it, merit the highest praise. None but learned, diligent lawyers could have produced Indiana now in force upon the subjects to which it relates, be treated as the note from the same quarter, reand the first all excepting the acts of the last regular and extra sessions of the Legislature. It is a great excellence of the compilation that all existing statutes on each subject are collected together in the same place in these volumes; so that the reader can see at a glance all the legislation in force on any given subject. Take, for example, the act of 1852, organizing Courts of Common the Senate, on account of his connection with Pleas-the editors publish the act at large, and they also the Schubarth contract, will soon be introduced, print, in the form of notes on the same pages containing probably to-morrow. this statute, all the acts amendatory to it which have been passed up to this time. And so they have done of eral henceforth prohibiting furloughs to be given all the other acts contained in the revision of 1852.

The editors have also referred, in their notes, to numerous decisions in other States, is the full and accurate index appended to each. In Indiana, there never has been a good index to any volumes of statutes published by authority. This provoking defect has been completely remedied in the volumes under review; and these indexes will greatly lighten the labor of all who have occasion to look into our statutes.

This is the first time that private enterprize has attempted the publication of Indiana statutes. The attempt, I do not doubt, will be successful, and will duly reward the learned editors and enterprizing publishers. Every lawyer will, of course, purchase these volumes; and every clerk, sheriff, and justice of the peace of the State, will find it to his advantage to own them. DAVID M'DONALD.

Indianapolis, June 5, 1862

The foregoing notice by Judge McDonald, of Gavin & Houn's Compilation of the Statutes of Indiana, is not designed as a pull of the work, but is an unsolicited commendation of the ability, accuracy, and completeness with which these volumes have been prepared.

The second volume, which has just been issued from the press, is being delivered to subscribers as rapidly as possible. This edition of the statutes will be found a necessity to every lawyer, justices of the peace, and county officers in the State. The publication of the work is a private enterprize, and the publishers' only hope for remuneration is in its sale to those for whose convenience it was prepared. The two volumes contain about 1600 pages of matter, nearly double the quantity embraced in

The price of the work is $4.50 per volume, or $9.00 for the two volumes. Orders addressed to the subscriber wil receive prompt attention. J. J. BINGHAM, Indianapolis, Ind.

When from thy lips sweet music swells, Like fragrance from the heart of roses, Sweet as a chime of silver bells Heard o'er the wave as daylight closes, All hearts are bound in tuneful chains, And turn to thee in fond devotion; As purple mists embrace the plains,

The very air that floats along And seems a breath of happy Aidenn, Faints with excess of sweetest song, And sinks with melody o'erladen.

And through the pearly gates of speech,

The words in mellow numbers breaking, Seem spirits born of heaven, each The perfect form of music taking.
